Natal Chart Report

Introduction to Your Birth Chart Report

What follows is your personal natal chart information, as well as interpretations of the positions and aspects in your chart.

With this report, you'll find out the positions of the planets in your natal chart by sign. The most personal of these are the Sun sign, Moon sign, Mercury sign, Venus sign, and Mars sign. Most people already know their Sun sign.

If your time of birth is known, you will also find out your Ascendant, or rising sign, as well as the positions of the planets in the houses of your chart. Additionally, aspects between the planets are listed and interpreted.

If the birth time is unknown, we cannot know the Ascendant or house positions. The natal chart shown here is an Aries chart in that case. Additionally, you may not know the Moon sign for certain. This is because the Moon changes signs approximately every 2-1/2 days. Less probable but still possible is a change of signs for the other planets and luminaries, depending on the planet itself (for example, the Sun changes signs every 30 days or so).

Each paragraph of interpretation refers to an individual position in your chart. All of these positions and aspects are some of the "parts" that make up a "whole"--you! Some of these interpretations will be contradictory, just as people are contradictory. A person can be timid in love and aggressive in business, for example. As well, we evolve and grow throughout our lives, facing challenges that help us to handle our positions and aspects in a different way. We all have choices, and one of the major benefits of astrology is the chance to understand ourselves so that we can work with our natal charts and improve ourselves. Any computerized report that interprets the individual placements in a natal chart is somewhat disjointed, simply because the different parts that make up the whole are not synthesized.

Some of the interpretations are more detailed than others. You can use this as a starting point and do some further reading about different positions (such as Moon in Libra, Saturn in the 10th house, Moon conjunct Mercury) in your chart by exploring our own site, other astrology sites, and by reading astrology books.

The tables show the technical details of your natal chart, personalized based on your birth data. Below the tables, you'll find your free birth chart interpretive report, and a chart wheel appears at the end of the report.

Planet Positions, Ascendant, & Houses

The following table shows the position of the planets in your chart, by sign and degree. You will also find the sign of your Ascendant and the signs on the cusp of each house in your natal chart only if the birth time is known. The Roman Numerals refer to the houses, where the Ascendant is also the first house and the Midheaven is also the tenth house. For example, if the sign Taurus is next to Mars, you know your Mars is in Taurus. If the sign Libra is next to Venus, you know your Venus is in Libra. If Cancer is next to Ascendant, you have a Cancer Ascendant, and if Leo is next to II, Leo is on your 2nd house.

Aspects

The following table shows the planetary aspects in your natal chart. Interpretations of these factors are found below. The numbers listed under the column "Value" serve as a relative rating system for each aspect and are determined based on the planets involved, the aspect type, and the orb of influence. Negative values suggest more stressful or challenging influences while positive numbers show more flowing, easy energy.

BIRTH CHART

This birth chart report shows the positions of the planets for JACKSON.

The Sun

The Sun represents vitality, a sense of individuality, and outward-shining creative energy.

The Sun is in Libra

Libra natives are considered sociable, somewhat intellectual souls. They have an almost innocent way about them that makes them very approachable. Generally quite eager to cooperate, Librans spend much of their time trying not to rock the boat.

In theory, Libras are peace-loving. In practice, they can quietly stir up all sorts of trouble with their ways. Because Libra enjoys balance in their lives, they seek the middle ground. In the process, they may end up trying to be everything to everyone. This is where their reputation for untruthfulness might originate. Generally, their untruths spring from a true desire for peace and fairness. Although they may not be comfortable with direct and malicious trickery, they feel totally justified when they lie to avoid making waves. Peace at any price! People involved with Libras may complain about their lack of directness and apparent inability to take a stand. However, they're genuinely concerned and always ready to bring more harmony to their world.

Librans are experts at avoiding being the ones to blame. When confronted, they'll (calmly and reasonably) say, "What, me? No, I just want peace." "On the fence", "middle ground", "middle road" -- these are all expressions that we can safely associate with Libra. In truth, without Libra, life simply wouldn't be as fair.

Librans are known for comparing and thinking in relative terms instead of absolutes. This weekend is not just a good weekend, it's better than last weekend. They're always looking for the "best" way or the "right" way to live. Harmony is the ultimate goal, but their idealism and high expectations can mean plenty of discontent. Since life presents us with countless choices, if Libra doesn't learn to live in the moment, at least some of the time, they'll be in a constant state of unrest. Society needs rules, and these rules attempt to bring justice, equality, and fairness. On an individual level, Libra represents these laws of civilization. Libra is very civilized, kind, concerned, and refined.

They have a great need to be part of a group.

They like to mix with people and seek partnerships. They like and respect justice. They approve of society's values. They are level-headed and assimilate quickly.

Weaknesses: can be indecisive, they are frivolous. A dilettante in love. They are easily swayed by group pressure.

Libra with ascendant Aquarius

Sun in VIII: The Sun is in the eighth house

You have a great urge to go farther or deeper into life every step of the way. You want to experience more, and your desires are both powerful and intense. It's hard for you to find satisfaction in common experiences, and you have magnetic power if you choose to use it wisely. You are fascinated with what lies under the surface, and at some point in your life, self-improvement is a big interest. You are attracted to unexplored or taboo areas, and you avoid all things superficial. Financial problems may ease after marriage.

Key points:

They have grit and staying power and talent with handling others' resources. They can be intense, secretive, or obsessive, with a strong belief in the powers of transformation, growth, and improvement. A natural psychologist.

6 Trine between the Sun and Moon

Your emotions and your will are at peace with one another, suggesting a rather balanced personality. The "messages" you received in childhood were not contradictory overall, and you have a stronger sense of purpose and appreciation of harmony than most people.

You are likely personally popular, mainly because you expect harmony in your relationships.

You are attractive to most people, and your self-confidence and security make you easy to deal with on many levels.

Your relaxed, easygoing disposition puts others at ease. Your "default setting" can be unprepared for conflict, and you often avoid "rocking the boat." You may acquiesce to others a little too often, if only to maintain balance and harmony, as you prefer to avoid conflict.

This influence brings a tendency toward too much acceptance--of the self and others. You may need prompts and encouragement to question life, or you risk taking things for granted.

Your vitality is usually good and quite constant. You are not necessarily hard-driving, unless other indications in the chart point to it, but your constitution is generally strong. At any rate, you are not as prone to the ups and downs that often plague those with challenging aspects between the Sun and Moon. This is because even though your life goals and emotional needs differ, they are largely in harmony.

Short description: Well-rounded and harmony-oriented. They have lots of vitality and more potential than they may realize. They like public life; they are popular, and others appreciate their company. They are balanced, at ease with themselves and usually get on very well with their parents or guardians. They make a good guide or mediator.

21 Sextile between the Sun and Mars

You are enterprising and have powerful energy stores you can draw upon when needed. You respond to problems or challenges with a spirited and enthusiastic confidence that is admirable. You are naturally competitive, and this trait is generally well-received by others simply because it is unforced, unaffected, and sincere.

You truly believe in fair play, and you seem to be in love with life. When expressing competitiveness and courage, it's easy for others to accept these traits as positive rather than being rubbed the wrong way.

You have good physical vitality. Although competitive, you are not naturally combative. You may enjoy sports or games that are competitive but not violent. Breaking the rules of a competitive game is particularly upsetting to you. You can control your desires, aggressions, and instincts more than most. You know how to be fair and expect others to be fair! As such, sneaky behaviors, uncontrolled impulses, violence, and rage are offensive to you.

Key traits: They are natural and energetic, often working on instincts, with strong convictions and willpower, and quite driven.

-35 Square between the Sun and Jupiter

You have abundant optimism. Even with ups and downs, you tend to hook onto a new plan or goal and believe in it wholeheartedly. Although your intentions are good, you often overdo things. For example, you might gloss over realistic details and get into debt, overindulge in pleasures, or promise more than you can deliver. For the most part, you find help for your excesses. Somebody's usually there to help, as most believe your heart is in the right place. While this is usually the case, if excessive behavior becomes a pattern and you continually face light consequences, there is the danger that you will not learn from your mistakes and abuse the "system," relying on others to help you out a little too often.

However, many people with this aspect don't fall into the trap of losing their sincerity. You are generous, helpful, and charitable. Your good humor and resilience are admirable. The tendency to live beyond your means can remain a potential threat that you might struggle with for much of your life. Another thing to watch for is depression. You tend to go through periods of intense highs when you are excessively optimistic. These periods are so marked that they seem unnatural, and a fall seems inevitable. You can make promises you intend to keep but need help with follow-through. Self-control is something you learn with time and experience. Your talent lies in the big picture or the great idea. Knowledgeable and generous with your time, you have many talents that you shouldn't take for granted.

-23 Opposition between the Sun and Saturn

You faced a fair number of challenges in your life, especially in the first half of life, in which your attempts to express your will were often thwarted. There can be a persistent feeling that you don't get what you want compared to others. You can feel unlucky at times. Attempts to control your environment, and sometimes others, may be frequent.

You want to be considered an accomplished and important person, and when you face obstacles, you don't always see that you are your own worst enemy. You may long to be considered important in the eyes of the world, yet you harbor a fear of success simultaneously. You take failures and minor setbacks to heart and may even practically beat yourself up over them.

Self-awareness to the point of real self-consciousness is possible with this aspect. The truth is, nobody holds a microscope over you except for yourself. A little setback or a faux pas needn't be analyzed to death. No, you didn't make a spectacle of yourself when you made a mistake. Aim to worry far less about always being right or appearing suave and accomplished. When you ease the pressure you put on yourself, you don't face as many brick walls. It is very much about what you feel you deserve. Deep down inside, if you let yourself truly believe that you deserve happiness and peace of mind, you will find it.

You may engage in a lot of self-censoring: "I shouldn't.." is a common censoring mechanism with you. When you express egotism of any form, a big part of you feels guilty. As the Sun rules our conscious mind, it does enough censoring on its own. It is the "adult" within us. Saturn, on the other hand, is more like the "parent" within us. We need parents to guide us when we are children, and to some degree as adults, but for the most part, we don't need indefinite censoring--something that seems to be the case with Saturn-Sun hard aspects, except that the censoring and parenting are coming from within!

Ideally, you eventually learn that the standards you set for yourself are too high, which may be why you seem to hit frequent speedbumps. You have a sarcastic sense of humor, a keen intelligence, and the ability to apply caution and strategy. Your vitality may suffer, and troubles with the bones, teeth, and circulation may surface, especially at times of stress.

Key traits: They can make too much trouble for themselves 67 Sextile between the Sun and Lilith

They are fundamentally comfortable with the darker side of their nature. A student of human nature, they are observant, incisive, unique, unusual, and fascinating.

The Moon

The Moon represents the emotional responses, unconscious pre-destination, and the self-image. The Moon represents the emotions, and the Moon sign shows how a person expresses themselves when at home, at ease, and comfortable.

The Moon is in Gemini

People with Moon in Gemini are always interesting people--they have a finger in every pie, are curious to a fault, and are generally well-informed. Nervousness and worry are common traits with this lunar position. Lunar Geminis are usually pleasant, witty, and charming people. At home and with family, however, they can be moody and irritable at times. An underlying restlessness is common, and many Lunar Geminis need more stimulation than others. They usually read a lot, talk a lot, and think a lot with this airy, mutable position of the Moon.

Their homes are often a perpetual work-in-progress. They generally dislike housework but are big on home improvement. Re-organizing their homes in little--and sometimes big--ways seems to keep them happy, as Lunar Geminis are easily bored by both routine and constancy. Often, this is a reflection of their inner world--"the grass is always greener..." applies here. Inwardly, Lunar Geminis can be unsettled. Moon in Gemini people are often more adept at handling the intellectual needs of their loved ones than emotional ones. They prefer to sort out others' complicated emotions mentally or verbally.

In their families, Lunar Geminis often take on the role of organizing get-togethers. They are at their best when they have plenty of things to do beyond the routine. Moon in Gemini people almost always have a way with words. They are clever and witty, and more often than not, can be found chatting with others. They are sociable and friendly, and feel comfortable in crowds. Some pay too much attention to what everyone else is doing and lose touch with what they really want to do. Generally, Lunar Geminis have a million and one projects going. They are impressionable folk, and their imagination is boundless.

Their openness to new ideas is admirable, although decisiveness and persistence take a blow as a result. Still, versatility and adaptability are some of the stronger traits of this position of the Moon. When irritable, they can easily become snappy. Their moodiness is complicated--this is not the same kind of moodiness you'll find with water sign moons, for example. Usually, difficult behavior stems from inner restlessness. Lunar Geminis want to do it all, and have trouble sticking to any one project.

When problems arise, the first instinct of Moon in Gemini natives is to talk things out. Their tendency to analyze can give them the appearance of emotional detachment. In fact, Lunar Geminis may be especially comfortable talking about their feelings, but feeling their own feelings doesn't come as easily! Those who don't take time out to emote and understand their own needs may end up baffling others. Feeling misunderstood is common for Moon in Gemini natives. The only real solution to the problem is learning to get in touch with their feelings.

Short description:

Sharp intellect. They like literature and will adapt to all situations and social groups. Work in contact with the public, literary occupations, travel.

Potential issues: lack of follow-up of ideas, indecision, may go back on decisions.

Moon in IV: The Moon is in the fourth house

They like family life, peace, and quiet -- they like to stay at home, surrounded by loved ones, in agreeable circumstances. Strongly influenced by the early environment and mother or takes after the mother.

You long for a sense of true belonging but may be restless in your search. You might change residence frequently or feel the need to make many changes in your home. Moving often may be a healthy thing if it keeps you emotionally stimulated, but if you find that you do so on whims and later regret the changes, you might want to treat it as a symptom of emotional unrest--as a sign that you are in a constant search for the perfect mood and setting, when in fact you might work on your feeling of belonging from the inside out, not the outside in!

It's possible you remain rather immature or irresponsible emotionally, never wanting to truly grow up and take care of yourself. There can be some mistrust of those in authority. Attachments to your past, traditions, and family are strong. You play it safe with money--and your heart! Inheriting the family home, working from home, a family business, or following in parents' footsteps can be themes. The memory is like an elephant.

-58 Square between the Moon and Mercury

There is a conflict here between the head and the heart. Your emotions tell you one thing, and your mind tells you something else. The result is a see-saw effect: you can be emotional to the point of irrationality at one moment and logical the next.

How to blend the head and the heart can be a constant struggle for you, often because you resist blending them!

You love to chat, enjoy story-telling and writing/poetry, sometimes enjoy bending the truth, and possess a sparkling wit! You are animated when you speak and have a sense of humor that others appreciate because it's highly imaginative. You may be especially adept at satire.

People can usually read your mood by how much you're talking! When nervous or excitable, you talk up a storm. Moodiness is a characteristic, definitely, and an especially subjective nature makes you prone to hypersensitivity. It usually has to do with the fact that you take in so very much from your environment.

It is for these reasons that you can often be indecisive. You may swing between irrational and rational thoughts and feelings. It's pretty much something that takes place "upstairs" in the mind, although others are sure to see the struggle occasionally.

You are always interesting and often funny. You sometimes misrepresent yourself with what you say, but you're a charming, kooky friend.

Key traits: If they are happiest in their own little imaginary world, they can be happy nowhere because they can never find their ideal world on the outside. This problem can create a lot of change, instability, and disquiet. They must aim to enjoy the moment--the real world--more often. They should watch for fibbing and gossip, but being especially sensitive to criticism and thin-skinned leaves them feeling vulnerable.

If the other aspects allow, they can be a very good novelist. Great imagination and observation.

109 Sextile between the Moon and Mars

You are a passionate person who loves life. Although your emotions are powerful and immediate, your passion is generally controlled and directed. You can be a sexual person who nevertheless doesn't get too carried away or controlled by your passions.

Because your emotions are strong and you know how to direct them into constructive channels, you don't automatically understand such things as "crimes of passion," impulsive behaviors, or emotional excitability in others.

You're generally open, accepting, and natural in your sexual expression. You need an emotional connection to feel complete on a physical level.

You may have an affection and talent for sports, but other factors in the natal chart are necessary to provide the motivation and commitment.

Short description: They are frank, honest, full of vigor and ambition. They are strong-willed and powerful at work. They are a little hard on themselves and sometimes on others whose capacity for action is not as great or inherent. On an emotional level, craving action or activity.

58 Trine between the Moon and Ascendant

They have a good influence on the family, and the family usually gives back, loving and helping in return. They like traveling, movement, and change. They thrive on contact and are open to other people, although this can be a moody interest. The experience of the outer world filters very much through their emotions. Very sensitive, highly observant, adaptable, likable, and somewhat of a chameleon.

Mercury

Mercury represents communication, Cartesian and logical spirit.

Mercury is in Virgo

They like to discuss, deduce, and judge. They reason logically and accurately. They may spend a lot of time on practical matters and keeping things in order. Sometimes nitpicky and nervous, secretly feeling they handle matters better than others.

Mercury in VIII: Mercury is in the eighth house

They like research, investigations, inquiries. Studies well.

They are fascinated with all that is unexplored, mysterious, taboo, secret, and psychological. They love research and have a great mind. They want to know the motivation behind what people do. May have a good mind for financial strategies. They may be tormented at night, unable to turn off the mind to rest deeply at times.

You speak with authority and others listen, having strong persuasive powers which should be used carefully. You tend to feel that everything we do and experience has a purpose. You have a great, investigative, and penetrating mind and you are excellent at developing strategies, as well as communicating them with others.

89 Trine between Mercury - Neptune

They can put down in writing everything that their imagination and intuition dictates. A wonderful storyteller.

110 Sextile between Mercury - Midheaven

They like to have their own ideas about things, to form an opinion and think over the problems it poses. They are an intellectual.

Venus

Venus represents an interest in emotions and values, exchange, and sharing with others.

Venus is in Leo

When people who have Venus in Leo are in love, they are proud. This position of Venus can turn humble Virgo Suns or retiring Cancer Suns into somewhat demanding lovers.

Venus in Leo loves to court and be courted, and they need to feel very special. They are warm, generous, and even grand. Though really quite loyal to their partners (remember that love is THE most important thing in Leo's life), they thrive on attention from lovers or love interests. Be prepared for their displays, and keep in mind that they're just showing off to you.

Venus in Leo people have high expectations, but once you know that these expectations revolve only around how much attention you are giving them, you'll see that they are really quite big-hearted about most everything else. They can feel a little threatened by a relationship that appears to have settled too much, or one that's lost its spark. As well, indifferent or impersonal behavior on your part can frustrate them.

Although their needs for physical expression of love are generally quite strong, their need for love and admiration is perhaps even stronger.

It is hard for Venus in Leo people to separate love and sexuality, as very often, even their most erotic fantasies are infused with love and affection. For this reason, few Venus in Leo folk would last long in a relationship that is mostly physical. On the flip side, they may last longer in a love-only relationship in the absence of satisfying physicality, but they are unlikely to feel very satisfied.

Pleasing Venus in Leo involves paying loads of attention to them. If you're willing to make only one adjustment in your ways, it should be to remind Leo how wonderful they are. Respect and appreciate them, always. They want to be seen as attractive by you, so avoid (at all costs!) putting them down in this area. They actually lose interest when they perceive the slightest loss of interest in their partner, and you can expect that any letdown will be acted out in a dramatic fashion.

Remind them, in a gentle way, that your emotions count too. If you are feeling a little jealous, let them know. Remember, to Venus in Leo, your small jealousies are affirmations that you find them attractive and expect the rest of the world to as well.

Let them decide where to go on a date, and let them pay too. When Venus in Leo feels loved and appreciated, they reward you with loyalty, a big sense of fun, and plenty of physical expressions of their love.

Short description:

Sincere, frank, and warm affections. They are full of tenderness. High hopes in love. They like to live and satisfy their passions to the fullest. Can be possessive and might even seduce for the sake of seducing to prove to themselves that they are attractive. Very proud in love, and warm-hearted and generous with loved ones. Noble.

Venus in VII: Venus is in the seventh house

Their fate can depend a lot on partnership. May connect for love, children, happy emotional life.

Harmony is most important to you, so it is unlikely you will attempt to dominate a lover. You are a peacemaker, sometimes going to great lengths to achieve a balanced, harmonious relationship. Be careful not to bend over backwards just to keep the peace--you may be taken advantage of. Your marriage partner may be especially attractive, charming, or well off. You are extremely attractive, agreeable, and charming, drawing others to you magnetically. You need an unusual amount of contact and exchange with a partner, and might find that you feel completely lost without one. Some of you might quickly enter into partnerships, perhaps too quickly and neither equipped nor prepared for the responsibilities that a long-term relationship demands. In some cases, there can be a shallow or materialistic interest in partners. Your hips and lower back may be special erogenous zones for you, or they may be especially attractive body parts.

-40 Square between Venus - Pluto

In an attempt to control the outcome of a love relationship, or the loved one's feelings, they can turn to manipulative games. Even if they do "succeed" at it, there is never a feeling that they have won someone over for who they are, and this feeds a vicious cycle that should be avoided if possible.

Their feelings are intense, and even extreme, when it comes to love. They might attract intense relationships that have love-hate themes as a result. They can be very passionate when in love, definitely, but also passionate when in hate! They easily put pressure on a partner, expecting much loyalty and honesty in intimate relationships. Should avoid allowing relationships get to a point where the partner is superfluous and they are working through their own inner demons through that person. Certainly, they will learn much about themselves through their relationships, and they may not always like what they see. They meet themselves (the "darker" side or inner demons) through their relationships, and it will be critical that they can recognize it as their own "material" and not project it onto the partner. Letting go of a relationship can be hard for them to do, especially if Venus is in a fixed sign (Taurus, Leo, Scorpio, or Aquarius).

-13 Opposition between Venus - Ascendant

They may go to excess with their pleasures, frequents doubtful company, may come across differently than expected. They are very spendthrift, but spreads their money around their circle. Their friends may be more self-interested than sincere.

-27 Square between Venus - Midheaven

They can have a difficult time integrating personal and public or professional lives effectively. Both areas may suffer at times due to indecision, inconstancy.

Mars

Mars represents the desire for action and physical energy.

Mars is in Leo

This position of Mars gives a drive for significance. Mars in Leo individuals possess a strong need to create in some way--and they are determined that their lives have not only meaning, but significant meaning! This is a particularly vital position of Mars. Passions run high, and so does desire. There is a strong will that gives these natives much staying power. Though Mars in Leo people will enjoy the pleasures of risk-taking, they generally have a strong sense of reason at the end of the day. Mars in Leo people often have well-defined ambitions. Rarely will you find a person with Mars in this position who lives life without a true sense of a "calling". They act with authority and power, and their personal magnetism generally endows them with the ability to get what they want.

This is one of the more sexually-charged signs of Mars. While they are rather easy to arouse, their passion is long-standing. Mars in Leo natives enjoy sexuality more than most, as long as heavy doses of love and romance are part of the package. In partnership, they demand loyalty and admiration. Impatient with small-mindedness and disloyalty, Mars in Leo natives generally have a strong idealistic streak. They easily get fired up when they feel they've been humiliated, and they defend their high principles with ardor. Mars in Leo natives act with their heart. Their ego is tied up with their actions, so that most anything they do becomes a source of great pride. Though some are self-righteous and quarrelsome, the more sophisticated people with this position are kindly leaders.

Mars in VI: Mars is in the sixth house works with great pleasure and flat out but meets with problems at work, where professional rivalry blocks ideas and enjoyment.

You tend to work hard, sometimes to the point of exhaustion! You put a lot of energy into your work, and would do best working for yourself or for someone else but independently, as you can quickly become impatient if other members of a team are not working as fast as you. You are also easily upset with procrastination. You can be very skilled at organizing and re-organizing, sorting, classifying, and analyzing. You put a lot of energy into any job you do, and you can easily become riled up or defensive if someone criticizes or intrudes upon the work that you do.

True North Node in Libra

Their path is to learn to cooperate, delegate, and share the load more often. They sometimes rely on themselves so much that people in their life feel alienated or not needed. They are working on tact and patience. They may fear losing some freedom or independence if they involve others more, but allowing some feedback or help into their life can restore balance. They let success into their life when they let others in. Ultimately, they learn that self-justification stunts their growth. Qualities to develop and cultivate: Cooperation, tact, sharing, teamwork.

North Node in VIII: North Node in the Eighth House

They should watch for holding too tightly to their ways and things for fear of change, as this can limit them and their opportunities. Qualities to develop: sharing, intimacy, willingness to go deep.

The Houses

House I is the area of self identity. The ascendant is a symbol of how one acts in life. It is the image of the personality as seen by others, and the attitude that one has towards life.

Libra with ascendant Aquarius

Ascendant is Aquarius

How unique and original Aquarius rising natives come across! These individuals are just that - individuals, and they won't let you forget that fact. Often turned to for advice, these natives possess intellectual poise and savvy. They often are curious, and quite learned, in both science and metaphysics--anything that involves advancement of the human race holds much appeal. It's hard to shock an Aquarius rising. They've seen it all, or at least want you to think they have. In fact, they often enjoy shocking others. Not that they are flamboyant by nature, but they do like to, albeit quietly, get a rise out of others. Some natives born with Aquarius on their Ascendant can be quietly provocative and irreverent. Most people with this Ascendant are quite friendly and likable. Their personality quirks generally go over quite well with others. They generally give others quite a bit of freedom--accepting, as a rule, people from all walks of life as equals. And, their somewhat cool and detached curiosity about all that goes on around them appeals to most.

Curiously, Aquarius rising people can be a little standoffish while also coming across as humanitarian and kind. Often labeled as independent and original children, Aquarius rising natives often feel a little "different" or "special" throughout life. They often feel like they are on the outside looking in, and their ability to observe and deduce is often uncanny. They're also adept at getting things to work, even when the parts that make up the whole seem like a puzzle with unusual pieces--especially when it comes to groups of people. This sets them apart as managers and team leaders. The Ascendant often reveals physical mannerisms and even choice of dress, as it shows how people present themselves to the world. With Aquarius here, natives sometimes have a quirkiness to their manner, and some dress in a slightly offbeat manner--not enough to make them stand out like a sore thumb, but just enough to express their original temperament.

Because these people seem so open to new ideas, it may be surprising when you encounter their decidedly stubborn streak. Aquarius is a fixed sign, after all. The ascendant sign shows how individuals react to new situations, and with Aquarius rising, there can be a resistance to change that seems to belie the native's generally progressive nature. There's a distinct inflexibility with Aquarian rising people, and, sometimes, a tendency to want to force their opinions on others. With their eye to the future of mankind as a whole, some people born with an Aquarius Ascendant overlook the more personal needs of the people closest to them. They are often attracted to partners who possess self-confidence and ardor.
